

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVER
is recommended
HALL'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
This Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern
and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than commons of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases extreme and desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are, often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.
To persons who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative, Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back Loss of appetite Indigestion Impurity of blood Melancholy Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing their root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND DAILY INTELLIGENCER.

SAMUEL SNOWDEN,
ROYAL STREET.

Daily Gazette 57—Country Gazette 85.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1817.

MISCELLANY.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE GAZETTE.

To return to the subject, from which we have gone somewhat astray, it is certain that the rapidity with which Lord Byron's poems succeeded each other, during four years, served to arrest as well as to dazzle and delight the public; nor did there appear room to apply to him, in the height of his fame and the flower of his age, the caution which we might whisper to other bards of popular celebrity. The Giaour, the Bride of Abydos, the Corsair, Lara, the Siege of Corinth, followed each other with a celerity which was only rivalled by their success; and, at times, the author seemed to pause in his poetic career, with the threat of forbearing further adventure for a time, the public eagerly pardoned the breach of a promise, by keeping which they must have been sufferers. Exquisitely beautiful in themselves, these tales received a new charm from the romantic climes into which they introduced us, and from the oriental costume so strictly preserved, and so picturesquely exhibited. Greece, the cradle of the poetry with which our earliest studies are familiar, was presented to us as among her ruins and her sorrows. Her delightful scenery, once dedicated to those deities who though deposed from their own Olympus, still preserve a poetical empire, was spread before us in Lord Byron's poetry, varied by all the moral effect derived from what Greece is and what she has been, while it was doubled by comparisons, perpetually excited, between the philosophers and heroes who formerly inhabited that romantic country, and their descendants, who either stoop to their Boethian conquerors or maintain among the recesses of their classical mountains an independence as wild and savage as it is precarious. The oriental manners, also, and diction, so peculiar in their picturesque effect that they can cast a charm over the absurdities of an eastern tale, had here the more honorable occupation of decorating that which in itself was beautiful, and enhancing, by novelty, what would have been captivating without its aid. The powerful impression produced by this species of poetry confirmed us in a principle which, though it will hardly be challenged when stated as an axiom, is very rarely complied with in practice. It is, that every author should, like Lord Byron, form to himself and communicate to the reader a precise, defined, and distinct view of the landscape, sentiment or action, which he intends to describe to the reader. This simple proposition has been so often neglected, that we feel warranted in giving it a little more consideration than plain men may, at first sight, think necessary.

An author occasionally forgets that it is his business rather to excite than to satiate the imagination of his reader—rather to place before him such a distinct and intelligible sketch as his own imagination can fill up, than, by attempting to exhaust all that can be said on the subject, to confuse the understanding, and weary the attention. There should be, even in poetical description, that height and perspective which is demanded in the sister art of painting, and which alone can render the scenes presented by either distinct, clear, and intelligible. Here the painter has, in some degree, the advantage of the poet, for perspective is the very foundation of his art. The most stupid bungler that ever took brush to hand is aware that his objects must diminish as they withdraw from the eye, and that he is not entitled to render the rocks of his distance too distinct, and that the knowledge that such things as actually exist will not justify him in painting with minuteness the foliage and shrubs which grow on their sides, and in their services, at a distance from which these minute objects cannot be discovered by the eye. Yet, suppose such a novice a follower of the mus, and he will not hesitate a moment to transgress this wholesome rule. Every thing which he knows to exist in fact he will, with the confused minuteness of a Chinese painter, labor to introduce into his description, and, by confounding that which is important to his purpose with what is subordinate, he will produce a mass of images more or less splendid, according to the vivacity of his imagination, but paralyzing, incongruous and unsatisfactory in all respects to the reader, who, in vain, endeavors to reduce them in his own mind into one distinct landscape, whose parts shall bear a just proportion to each other. Such a poet has assembled, perhaps, excellent materials for composition, but he does not present them in intelligible arrangement to the reader, and he fails to produce upon the minds of others the desired effect; probably because the picture has never been presented to his own with sufficient accuracy.

This is more particularly the case with such authors as, lacking the erudition of Sunley, or the personal experience of Lord Byron, attempt to lay their scene in countries or ages with the costume and manners of which they are but imperfectly acquainted. Such adventurers are compelled to draw heavily on their slender stock of knowledge on every occasion, and to parade, as fully as they can, before the eye of the reader whatsoever their reading has gleaned concerning their subject. Without Chatterton's genius, they fall into Chatterton's error, who, not considering that in the most ancient authors scarcely one word in ten has become obsolete, wrote a set of poems in which every second word was taken from a glossary, and necessarily remitted to one, under the idea that he was imitating the language of the ancients. Thus, when a poet deals in materials of which he is not fully master, he is obliged, at the risk of outraging both taste and nature, to produce as frequently, and detain before the reader as long as possible, those distinctive marks by which he means to impress him with the reality of his story; and the outrage is committed in vain, for it is not enough for the representation of an eastern landscape that the foreground should be encumbered with turbans and sabres, and the fantastic architecture of the kiosks or the mosque, if the distance be not marked by these slight but discriminating touches which mark the reality of the scene, the lightly indicated palm tree which overhangs the distant fountain, or the shadowy and obscure delineation of the long column of the caravan retreating through the distance, or the watchman who rests on his lance while his tribe slumbers around him, as in the following exquisite picture taken from one of the poems before us:

"The boy was sprung to manhood: in the wilds Of fiery climes he made himself a home, And his soul drank their sun-beams: he Was a girl
[Not
With strange and dusky aspects; he was Himself like what he had been; on the sea And on the shore he was a wanderer;
There was a mass of many images Crowded like waves upon me, but he was A part of all; and in the last he lay Reposing from the noon-tide sultriness, Couched among fallen columns, in the shade [names Of ruin'd walls that had surviv'd the
Of those who rear'd them; by his sleeping side [steeds Stood camels grazing, and some goodly Were fasten'd near a fountain; and a man Clad in a flowing garb did watch the white While many of his tribe slumber'd around:
And they were canopied by the blue sky, So cloudless, clear, and purely beautiful,
That God alone was to be seen in Heaven."

TENNESSEE.
An appeal to the sense of the people has been authorized, by the requisite majority of two-thirds of the Legislature of Tennessee, on the expediency of calling a convention to amend the constitution of that state; on which question the people are invited to vote, AY or NO, at the next General Election. This is the most democratic process of any of our governments—submitting the question to the people, individually, for their opinion, without any representative intermediation.

The following resolution has been introduced into the Legislature of Tennessee, by some one who dreams the introduction of the National Bank of dona ferentes into that state. The fate of the motion does not yet appear.

"Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Tennessee, That they do greatly regret the necessity which impels them to declare, that they will view with concern and disapprobation the establishment of any bank, branch of any bank, or other monied institution, not chartered by the laws of this state, within the limits thereof; and they do feel themselves, under all the ties of responsibility which bind the representative to the people, to use all lawful means in their power to prevent and prohibit the same." BANK OF THE VALLEY.

Books were continued open in this town, during the last week, for the purpose of taking subscriptions to this Bank. Stock to the amount of 105,000 dollars was taken on Saturday last, and if we are to judge from the eagerness of gentlemen (capitals), to vest their funds in this institution, we have no hesitation in saying, that we believe, 150,000 dollars worth of stock will be subscribed for before Wednesday next, when the books will be closed. We have to congratulate our friends on the pleasing prospect of having a Bank established in Leesburg, upon the most solid foundation—specie. [Leesburg Washingtonian.]

Winchester, Nov. 15.
VALLEY BANK.

The books for the capital stock of this institution closed on Wednesday evening last; and it is with little pride and satisfaction we announce, that, notwithstanding it was perhaps the most unpropitious period that an attempt to establish a bank could have been made, the amount taken here is $255,500. Not only has the whole capital (600,000) been taken, but, from unofficial information received, there will be an excess of perhaps $50,000, which will render it necessary for the operation of scaling down to be performed upon some of the largest stockholders. The counties of Loudoun and Fauquier have entitled themselves to a Branch, having taken stock to the amount of upwards of $100,000—but, in justice to the former, we are bound to declare that with the exception of a few, very few shares, the whole amount has been taken at that place. The counties of Jefferson and Berkeley have also exceeded the amount which entitles them to a Branch; and lastly, though not least, Hampshire and Hardy have eminently entitled themselves to a similar boon. It must be admitted, all things considered, such as the stagnation of business for a considerable time past, the pressure produced by the winding up of the business of eight unchartered institutions, all within the section of the country designated for the opening of the Bank of the Valley, besides the important consideration that the produce of the late season has not yet been got to market; and, we might add, the hard and ungenerous terms imposed by the Legislature in granting the charter—we say, all these things considered, that the amount of stock taken on this occasion has developed the resources of our country more than volumes written upon the subject could have done. If the Legislature at the next session will, as it is wished, extend the capital to a million of dollars, there is not a doubt that by the first of March, when the Bank will be put in operation, the remaining $400,000 will have been taken.

Unreasonable and unprecedented as the terms are, on which the charter of this institution was granted, and which we have reason to believe were made so in order to defeat the object, it is evident that the Bank will, from that cause, go into operation under greater advantages than any similar institution, of the same capital, has done for many years past. It will commence with a solid capital of FOUR HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, which must be paid in, and the fact solemnly sworn to by the Cashier before the company dare emit one dollar! That this Bank, under the direction of prudent and judicious men, will therefore be among the most substantial & respectable, in proportion to its capital, in the United States, must be evident to every reflecting mind; and that it will be of incalculable advantage towards promoting the prosperity of this important section of the state must be equally evident. It is hoped this result will prove to some of our Eastern Brethren that this section of Virginia occupies a more respectable station in the scale of importance, than they have hitherto been willing to admit, and that it will have the effect to secure to it a little more of their attention to its interests, in their future deliberations, than it has heretofore done. [Gazette.]

"It not only rains, but it pours."

Since writing the above we have received the following returns, official and otherwise, of the subscriptions for the Stock of "The Bank of the Valley," at the different places at which books were opened.

735,800

From this result it will appear there is an excess of $135,800, instead of $50,000 as we at first conjectured. Paradoxical as it may appear, we have some reason to believe, that a Capital of a Million of Dollars would have been taken with little more difficulty than the above sum. Many monied men withheld their funds on account of the insufficiency of the Capital Stock, from an impression that the expense attendant on the establishment of three branches would absorb too great a portion of the profits;—there certainly is great truth in this reasoning. It is therefore hoped that the Stockholders will present a petition to the next Legislature, praying for an increase of capital. It will require but little argument to prove the insufficiency of a capital of $600,000 to supply the wants of Eight such important Counties as Shenandoah, Frederick, Fauquier, Loudoun, Jefferson, Berkeley, Hampshire and Hardy. With such evidence as has already been given, of the wealth of these counties, we would apprehend but little difficulty in obtaining an extension of the capital. [ibid.]

SCOBBERE ELVIRA, LOST.
A letter has been received at Philadelphia from Washington, (N. C.) states—I was at the sale of the Elvira's cargo; should suppose the goods sold within 25 per cent. their cost in N. York. I purchased a bundle of account books and an elegant grate for 50 dollars, and two steam engines, for which I gave 5 dollars 50 cents. These articles I purchased with an intention of offering them to the owners, who may now have them shipped to Charleston, by paying the cost and charges. The vessel and cargo sold for from 7 to 8000 dollars—Capt. Williams received the money and proceeded for Norfolk. I recommended his depositing the money in one of the banks there, which he promised to do; and from thence proceed to New York. Captain Williams appeared much distressed on account of the loss of the schr. and begged me to write to the owners, giving them a statement of his conduct, &c. I have some fears that Capt. Williams was murdered by the boat crew that was to convey him across the Sound. Although I have a good opinion of the man, (Capt. W.) I think it a mystery that he should cast his vessel on shore, with the wind blowing almost off the land.

Circular.—The following circular will give the reader accurate and late information of the state of the markets at Liverpool.

Liverpool, 7th Oct. 1817.

Sirs—Our last printed communication was dated the 2d ult. and, though it is past has not been a month of the same extended business as the two preceding, it has nevertheless been one of great activity, considering the advanced state of the season, more so than we have usually experienced; and we are enabled again to report the growing prosperity of our commerce, and the continued flourishing state of our manufactures generally; and appearances do not indicate the prospect of any immediate reaction. The home demand for the leading articles of our manufacture is prodigious, and the foreign has been on a more extended scale for some time past, than we have experienced for the previous eighteen months. Our exports to the United States are limited as is usual at the present season of the year; to the continent they are very active both in colonial and manufactured goods; and to India the trade from this port rapidly increases. With reference to the produce of our harvest, and to the prospect of our corn market, we refer you to the remarks that follow on wheat, flour, &c. Cotton—Towards the early part of last month there was some further improvement in our prices; for two or three weeks past however there has been an evident slackening in the market, not it is supposed, to originate in a reduced consumption, so much as to an inclination with our spinners and dealers to use or dispose of their stocks, not wishing to hold heavily so near the approach of new supplies; this feeling has produced some partial decline; there is however generally tolerably firm, small sales continue to be made at about our quotations. Fair to good fair uplands are the most wanted at 20s 3d a 21 1-2d per lb; Orleans go off tolerably well; the finest qualities at 2s a 2s 1-2d are the most wanted; for Sea Islands there is not much enquiry; the general run of Charlestona go off at 2s 5d a 2s 6d per lb. The import from all quarter the nine past months of the present year reach 255,185 packages; of which 150,277 bags were from the United States; in the corresponding nine months of the last year our import was 247,641 bags, of which 135,560 were from the United States.—General expectation prevails that our market will go higher, but it is hoped that it may not give way much before the new crop begins to arrive; there is however no actual want of cotton, and if a panic or an urgency to sell, was manifested, to decline. It is understood here that cotton is becoming scarce in India, and the last advices state that vessels which went out expressly for this article cannot get whole cargoes.

Tobacco and rice.—Part of the recent arrivals of tobacco prove of much better quality than before remained for sale; and though our market has on the whole declined during the past month, we raise our extreme quotations of fine, because there are now samples in the market worth the money which we state. For the lower qualities there is more demand for export, and the home trade now takes more freely of the better sorts; no decline is now expected sufficient to render this article an object of speculation. Rice is to remain free of duty till April next; very little now remains in the market; the demand continues tolerably good, and our quotations are supported from the scarcity of the article.

Wheat, flour, oats, &c.—Our harvest may now be considered as all but terminated; the weather for securing the crops has been fine beyond all calculation. The reports so long, and so generally prevalent, as to the superabundance of our crops are not, it is now believed, borne out by the result; not, however, that our harvest is deficient, but that it is not redundant; nor could it reasonably have been contemplated, that wheat would prove so productive as was reported, otherwise the probability is, that the heavy rains of July and August, would have beat it down; such, however, has not been the case; in this and the neighbouring counties the wheat is generally, though light on the ground, of good quality; in the south, where it has been housed too hastily, a great portion is not fit for immediate use; in many parts of England it is but lean; and generally speaking, wheat now seems to be admitted as rather below than above an average crop.—All the reports as to the crop of oats are uniform in representing it as abundant in quantity, and very fine in quality.—Barley seems to be esteemed both irregular in the sample, and in the produce, but beans are expected to be a decent crop, the present fine weather being much in their favor.

For some weeks past our corn markets have been rather on the advance, and which is the less surprising when we consider that the harvest is late, and the farmers have in consequence less time to prepare their ground for seed, besides the stock of old corn, both with the importers and the farmers, was nearly exhausted; for notwithstanding the immense import of American flour, very little remains here, indeed good qualities are becoming exceedingly scarce. Speculation now seems alive as to our ports closing on the 15th. Nov. just now we consider our average prices above 80s per quarter; the next week's average will take to account the advance; the two last for the maritime districts, and which were the first that will regulate the average, were 77s 1d and 74s 3d per quarter; should the farmers hold back their wheat, our aggregate average may exceed 80s; but if the farmers are tempted by the advance to come freely to market, then the chances are, that our ports will close in Nov.—it is however, a matter of speculation, and no safe opinion can just at present be offered on this subject.

To day our market was but dull, the good and sweet American flour was wanted, Philadelphia at 54s a 54s 6d and other shipments of sweet at 53s a 54s per bbl.—There was likewise some demand for fine old wheat, American at 13s a 13s 6d, and Danzig at 12s 5d a 13s 6d per 70 lb. For the past week the wind has been contrary, and no supplies of new grain have arrived; and, as before stated, our farmers are so busy in securing their harvest and preparing their land for seed, that no supply of moment has yet been received from them. On the whole, this day's market was dull, and but little business was done, if we except a public sale of 1000 barrels of Virginia flour, and which sold as in quality from 45s a 55s per barrel.

Remaining with respect, Sirs, Your most obedient servants, Buchanan, Smith & Co.
P. S. Oct. 9. Cotton is dull—no demand for flour.

BRITISH MANUFACTURES OUTDONE IN ONTARIO.

Much has been said, and many accounts published of the celerity with which English manufacturers of cloth have gone through the various operations attendant on the manufacturing that article, from the fleece to the garment. A few weeks since we published an account taken from an English paper, in which it was stated that at one of the manufactories in England, the fleece had been taken from the sheep, and manufactured into a coat in the short space of 13 hours and twenty minutes.—Messrs. Buck, Brewster, & Co. Managers of the Ontario Manufactory at Manchester in this county, on perusing that article, became sensible, from the perfection of their machinery, and the dexterity of their workmen, that the same operations might be accomplished even in a shorter time. Immediately a wager of 500 dollars was offered and accepted by the managers, that they would perform the same operation in 12 hours. The wool was taken from the flock in its natural state, and in 9 hours and 15 minutes precisely, the coat was completed and worn by one of the parties concerned. The wool was picked, greased, carded, roped and spun—the yarn was warped, put into the loom and woven—the cloth was fulled, coloured, four times shorn, pressed and carried to the tailors, and the coat was completed all within the time above stated. We saw the coat the next day after it was made. The truth of the above statement can be attested by many respectable witnesses besides Messrs. Buck and Brewster. The only difference between this and the English experiment is the time occupied in shearing the fleece and a farmer in the country knows that that operation may be despatched in ten minutes. The above named gentlemen now confidently assert, that they can manufacture a coat of elegant superfine broadcloth and have it completed in 12 hours.

From the New-Hampshire Centinel.
THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN NOMINAL PRICE AND REAL WORTH.

There is a vast difference between the nominal price and the real worth of things, and people in general are not careful to distinguish between them as they ought, but in confounding them together, are often led into the most gross and hurtful mistakes. The nominal price of a thing is what we pay for it in money. The real worth of it is to be estimated by the advantage or benefit we have derived from the possession of it. Some articles that we purchase, we are never able to compute the real worth of, though the cost or nominal price, is extremely trifling. This we shall show by adducing only one instance, and that shall be the article of a Newspaper.

A Farmer can be supplied every week in the year with a Newspaper, (say the N. H. Centinel) for the paltry sum of one dollar and seventy-five cents, and much less if taken in companies. Now in the course of that year he may obtain agricultural information of a nature entirely new to him with respect to the manner of preparing the soil, sowing the seed, preserving it from destructive insects, &c. as to enable him to raise on a farm, say of 100 acres, at least $30 worth more grain, hay, potatoes, and other produce than he would do, were he destitute of this source of information. The Farmer then who enters into this speculation, at the end of the year has made a net saving, on the above calculation, of $48 25 cents in cash.

But this is by no means all the benefit he has derived from the purchase; he has every week been presented with accounts of the situation of his own country—of important changes in the history of the world; of all the passing events and occurrences deserving of notice in his own state, by which he is enabled to converse with ease and propriety with his neighbor, to canvass the conduct of his rulers, to trace the cause and look forward to the probable result of measures. He has at least one evening in every week called his family around him and read to them some of the best moral and religious lessons, by which the hearts of all have been made better: he turns to the sublime strains of the poet and reads with rapture and delight: he pours over the melancholy tale of woe, and while he drops the tear of pity, he resolves never to turn hungry from his door, the poor and friendless supplicant. The innocently mirthful song, the pointed epigram, the anecdote, full fraught with wit, the shaft of satire levelled at vice arrayed in the gaudy robes of fashion, have each supposed, to originate in a reduced umption, so much as to an inclination in our spinners and dealers to use or use of their stocks, not wishing to d heavily so near the approach of new plies; this feeling has produced some tial decline; there is however again the demand for Upland and Orleans the holders of these kinds being ge-rally tolerably firm, small sales con-to be made at about our quotations. to good fair uplands are the most nted at 20 3/4 a 21 1-2d per lb; Or-ns go off tolerably well, the finest qua-es at 24 a 25 1-2d are the most want-; for Sea Islands there is not much quiry; the general run of Charlestown off at 24 5d a 25 6d per lb. The imrt from all quarter the nine past months the present year reach 255,185 packs, of which 150,277 bags were from the ited States; in the corresponding ne months of the last year our import as 247,641 bags, of which 155,360 were om the United States.—General expectation prevails that our market will higher, but it is hoped that it may not ve way much before the new crop be-ns to arrive; there is however no ac-al want of cotton, and if a panic or an agacy to sell, was manifest, to decline is understood here that cotton is beoming scarce in India, and the last adices state that vessels which went out expressly for this article cannot get hole cargoes.

Tobacco and rice.—Part of the recent rivals of tobacco prove of much better uality than before remained for sale; nd though our market has on the whole declined during the past month, we raise ur extreme quotations of fine, because here are now samples in the market orth the money which we state. For the lower qualities there is more demand or export, and the home trade now takes more freely of the better sorts; no decline in now expected sufficient to render this article an object of speculation.
Rice is to remain free of duty till April next; very little now remains in the market; the demand continues tolerably good, and our quotations are supported from the scarcity of the article.

Wheat, flour, oats, &c.—Our harvest may now be considered as all but terminated; the weather for securing the crops has been fine beyond all calculation.— The reports so long, and so generally prevalent, as to the superabundance of our crops are not, it is now believed, borne out by the result; not, however, that our harvest is deficient, but that it is not redundant; nor could it reasonably have been contemplated, that wheat would prove so productive as was reported, otherwise the probability is, that the heavy rains of July and August, would have beat it down; such, however, has not been the case; in this and the neighbouring counties the wheat is generally, though light on the ground, of good quality; in the south, where it has been housed too hastily, a great portion is not fit for immediate use; in many parts of England it is but lean; and generally speaking, wheat now seems to be admitted as rather below than above an average crop.—All the reports as to the crop of oats are uniform in representing it as abundant in quantity, and very fine in quality.—Barley seems to be esteemed both irregular in the sample and in the produce, but beans are expected to be a decent crop, the present fine weather being much in their favor.

For some weeks past our corn markets have been rather on the advance, and which is the less surprising when we consider that the harvest is late, and the farmers have in consequence less time to prepare their ground for seed, besides the stock of old corn, both with the importers and the farmers, was nearly exhausted; for notwithstanding the immense import of American flour, very little remains here, indeed good qualities are becoming exceedingly scarce. Speculation now seems alive as to our ports closing on the 15th Nov. just now we consider our average prices above 80s per quarter; the next week's average will take to account the advance; the two last for the maritime districts, and which were the first that will regulate the average, were 77s 1d and 74s 3d per quarter; should the farmers hold back their wheat, our aggregate average may exceed 80s; but if the farmers are tempered by the advance to come freely to market, then the chances are, that our ports will close in Nov.—it is however, a matter of speculation, and no safe opinion can just at present be offered on this subject.

To day our market was but dull, tho' good and sweet American flour was wanted, Philadelphia at 54s a 54s 6d and other shipments of sweet at 52s a 54s per bbl.—There was likewise some demand for fine old wheat, American at 13s a 13s 6d, and Danzig at 12s 5d a 13s 6d per 70 lb. For the past week the wind has been contrary, and no supplies of new grain have arrived; and, as be-which bespeaks unmingled delight.— His children have been weekly presented with a map of the manners and customs of the times, from the study of which they have learned more of human nature, of the meaning of words and propriety of language, than they would derive from ten times the cost of the newspaper, laid out for the un-meaning tales of fiction, describing every minute occurrence in the lives of hapless lovers that never existed any where but in the imagination of the writer, from the summit of hope, to the yawning gulph of despair.

These are advantages that are not confined to the farmer, but are derived by every class of people who embrace the means of obtaining them; advantages, the real value of which were it possible for us to compute, would be far beyond the power of figures or words to express. Were people to estimate the value of a newspaper by this, (which is a correct standard) we should no more hear of the papers being uninteresting, because the world is at peace—none would say that the price is too high, and endeavour to screw the printers down if possible, to less than nothing.

But there is one consolation to the son of the Type which may well cheer his spirits when he loses an old Subscriber, and that is—he will continue to receive new ones, for The paper will "continue in motion, And its pages each day be unfur'd, Till an ant to its dregs drinks the ocean, Or a tortoise hath crawl'd round the world."

DIED.

his age, Mr. DANIEL JENKINS, of this town. His friends and acquaintance are noon at 3 o'clock.

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
HARRIS' ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
to the inventor's feelings in several parts
and Middle States, &c.
The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved
cumstances.
Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.
It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken
valence of our bilious fevers, will prevent an infallible preventive; and further,
that in the earlier stages of those diseases
their use will very generally succeed in
esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.
The operation of these pills is perfectly
sons in every situation and of every age.
ten of fatal consequences. A dose never
change of climate.
They have been found remarkably effectual in preventing and curing disor-
should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

inate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, ca-

fords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely re-
children are liable. The Elixir is per-
that no difficulty arises in taking it.

tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable
from corrosive and repellent minerals,
the basis of other lotions, and of un-
of the face and skin, freckles, pimples,
inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-
worms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,
BOOKSELLERS,
KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA, RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store,
No. 45, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDI-CINES:
Hamilton's Worm-destroying Trozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.
This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbita or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tania or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; servant GEORGE, between 18 and 19 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches high, slender make, pug nose, bushy hair, half of one of his upper front teeth broken off —he is very artful and forward, and a capable house servant—he took with him a variety of clothing. I will give the above reward, if secured in any jail, so that I ble charges if brought home. Masters of ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 21.

WAS committed to the jail of this county, as a runaway, a Negro lad, who says his name is HENRY, and that he was sold to some Georgiaman, from the estate of William Randall, of Fauquier county, Virginia. He is a bright mulatto, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high, and has been in the habit of a race rider for Mr. Randall. The said lad ran away at Fredericksburg, on his way out. The owner is requested to come and prove his property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

Twenty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from William Galt, near Fredericksburg, on the Lancaster road, in April last, a Negro Woman, named JULIET, about 30 years of age, 5 feet high, has lost several of her upper front teeth, speaks quick & sharp-says she was sold by a Mr. Darby, of Anne-Arundel county, to some Georgia traders whom she left near Richmond, Va. and was lodged in Fredericksburg jail, from whence she was sold for her jail fees, & purchased by John P. Thompson, and by him sold to William Galt.— It is supposed she is now lurking about the district of Columbia or its vicinity.
The above reward will be paid for apprehending and securing her so that I get her.
JAMES GALT.

N. B. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against carrying off said runaway.

Fifty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called Ned McRAE, alias SWARTZING. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose; had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with clothing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber.
DAVID BARCLAY.
N. B. Masters of vessels and others, are cautioned against harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow, under penalty of the law.

Land for Sale.
IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Con-vantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain.
